Saturday, November 3, 2007

Doors Open @ 2:00 p.m.

Performance @ 3:00 p.m.

Cathedral of St. John the Baptist
1900 Carlton Road, Parma

After three years, Slavjane Folk Ensemble returns to the Cleveland area. Slavjane is a dynamic, dedicated group of 60+ young performers ages 6-18, who tirelessly rehearse and perform throughout the year displaying their representation of the Slavic heritage and culture, especially that of the Carpatho-Rusyn regions. Founded in 1961, Slavjane has performed internationally and extensively throughout the Pittsburgh and tri-state areas. The group has also performed at Epcot Center in Orlando Florida, in Washington D.C., and in the former Czechoslovakia. In the summer of 1992, Slavjane was the first Carpatho-Rusyn group from the United States to perform in the Annual Medzilaborce Arts & Sports Festival. Slavjane's second European tour to the homeland was in June 2005, performing in Uzhorod, at the Medzilaborce Festival, and at the 7th World Congress of Rusyns in Krynica, Poland.

Brooklyn Library • 4480 Ridge Road • Brooklyn, OH

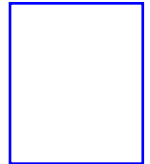

Members are invited to bring photographs, slides, and remembrances of their own experiences to share.

The program will focus on travel adventures to the Rusyn homeland. This is a chance for members who have visited the ancestral homeland to share their experience with other chapter members. Those who might be interested in making such a trip in the future can pick up useful information for planning their own return to the homeland.
